Black Panthers (7-0) – Another week and another victory...Had a big match-up vs. second place Onyx and took care of their business...This team is a big play machine with Cliff, TK, and Danny all scoring on plays longer than 50 yards last week...They also don't give up many big plays on the defensive side of the ball...The best way to take them down is to play ball control offense and keep their offense off the field....a great regular season will mean nothing if they don't get a title though...

Arsenal (6-1) – Pulled out a tight one this week and are feeling good about their title chances...They are playing very poised and controlled ball and seem to have figured out what style of play works best for them...They can be attacked on the corners however and if teams spot Joe at the safety position they are going to test him....Their ladies are playing great ball for them and could be the key to a title run....

Onyx (5-2) – Put up a valiant effort but at the end of the day did not have enough firepower to out duel the Panthers...The team still looks solid though and could have been a different outcome if Deb was on the field...Their short game is very effective and they should go to it more often...Omar is their only real deep threat and if he is held in check the big play is taken out of their repertoire...They are going to have to address Ahmad on the corner...he has proven very susceptible to double moves and every team watching will attack him with them from now on...

Dynasty (5-2) – Enjoyed their off week and are looking to move up in play-off positioning...they still have some deficiencies on defense they need to get shored up but they are a quick strike team that will consistently put pressure on opposing defenses...while they have had two tough losses they think they still are the team to beat...whether or not that is true has yet to be determined...

Too Damn Grown (3-4) – Lost a tough one and have probably guaranteed themselves a tough first round game in the play-offs....the offense surprisingly sputters to often when they have so much talent, particularly Sam and Felix....they both should be getting the ball early and often...The defense is very leaky though and they may want to shift some of that offensive talent to the defensive side of the ball...they came in the league thinking they were a top team if not the best team...not sure what they think now but if they still have that confidence they could be the team no one wants to see in the play-offs...

Generals (2-4) – Another rough lost this week...they just can not seem to get over that hump...their games are close but close only counts in horse shoes and hand grenades...they have to figure out how to finish tight games or they will be making an early exit from the postseason....The D has actually looked pretty good...the O needs to put more points on the board and take better care of the ball....

Reckless Abandon (2-5) – Their heart and toughness got questioned and they came out and showed they have lots of both....they said they were going to stick with their two QB system but they took the leagues advice and stuck with their starter and got a W because of it....while not mobile their QB is strong armed and accurate and has a nice connection with their receiving core...The defense was making big plays at the start of the season but has been missing that dimension lately...they need to help the offense out and create some turnovers...

Quiet Storm (2-4) – Congrats on your first on field victory!!!! We see that you came prepared to win by the spread you had after the game....Antron sealed the deal with a game saving INT on the goal line....They may have secured a play-off spot and once your in the play-offs who knows what could happen...if they can pull out another victory in their last two games they may even move into a 7th or 6th place spot...don't get complacent guys, still lots to play for....

Aftermath (1-6) – Their last second loss more then likely took them out of the play-off picture....They played well to only have 6 people but it is clear that the majority of their team has given up on them and left them for dead...we hope they stick it out and come ready to play next week....finishing strong and stealing a win could potentially still put them in a play-off spot...never give up!!!!

This week's match-ups - Week 8 – June 7th

11:00 – Onyx vs. Dynasty (Game of the Week) – A true grudge match here as many of these participants are former teammates of each other...They know each other well and are in tune to what the other likes to do....This should be a close one and a great game....Dynasty 32 - Onyx 28

12:00 – Aftermath vs. Generals – This is a key game for both teams...the Generals want to position themselves for a post season run and Aftermath just wants to get there...The Generals keep their games close and always are in a position to win...we think they want it more.... Generals 22 – Aftermath 7

1:00 – Quiet Storm vs. TDG– Quiet Storm got their first win since the first game of last season...TDG is trying to even up their record for the seasonBoth want to secure their play-off seeding and Quiet Storm may be ready to start a winning streak...but we think TDG has too much offensive firepower for Storm to stop.. .TDG 28 – Quiet Storm - 14

2:00 – Black Panthers vs. Reckless Abandon – The Panthers are trying to wrap up an undefeated season but obviously wear a target on their back...Reckless may have figured out what it takes to win in this league and could give them problems...Not enough problems to beat the Panthers however...Black Panthers – 30 – Reckless abandon - 13

Arsenal forfeit win....
